JPMORGAN CHASE JOINS SACASIAN CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BOARD

SACRAMENTO, CALIF. – The Sacramento Asian Pacific Chamber of Commerce (SacAsian) proudly welcomes a new board member from JPMorgan Chase, Nancy Coleman-Chavez, Community Engagement Relations Manager for Northern California. JPMorgan Chase and SacAsian share a commitment to uplifting communities of color, a mission that Coleman-Chavez embodies.

“I’m thrilled to be joining the SacAsian Chamber board and work alongside these local community leaders,” said Coleman-Chavez. “I believe in SacAsian Chamber’s mission of supporting and uplifting communities of color and am excited to collaborate with the team.”

As a representative of JPMorgan Chase, Coleman-Chavez brings a wealth of knowledge and valued experience to the SacAsian board, where she will sit alongside several corporate and community partner representatives. Her vast experience in California politics, including eight years working in the California State Assembly, and her background in social justice will be immensely valued by SacAsian as the organization continues to implement its inclusive economic development programs in the Sacramento region.

“JPMorgan Chase and SacAsian share a dedication to improving diverse communities and helping minority-owned small businesses grow,” said SacAsian President & CEO, Pat Fong Kushida. “SacAsian prioritizes bringing new voices to our board, and we are honored to have Nancy Coleman-Chavez sit alongside us. We look forward to the impact we can make together.”

SacAsian’s board and team continue to support minority-owned small businesses as they grapple with the ongoing effects of the pandemic. With corporate and community leaders like Coleman-Chavez lending their wisdom and expertise, the organization moves forward in aiding the small business community in recovery and inclusive economic development.

###

The Sacramento Asian Pacific Chamber of Commerce (SacAsian) is the largest ethnic chamber in the Sacramento region, dedicated to building sustainable communities through inclusive economic development opportunities. In response to COVID-19, SacAsian has established the Business Triage Center to provide direct support and resources to the Asian Pacific Islander and small business communities.
